Thursday, August 18, 1904,

Thursday, August 18, 1904, at 5:15 P. M., offer for sale, at public, auction, upon the premises, in the town of Ashland, Va., all the real estate belonging to the Henry Clay Inr Company, consisting of a lot located at the southwest corner of Clay and Railroad Streets, fronting 183 feet 4 inches, more or less, on Railroad Street, and extending back between parallel lines, one of which is the southern line of Clay Street, 336 feet 7 inches, more or less, to an alley 22 feet 19 inches wille, having thereon that attractive, new, three-story frame hotel building, known as the Henry Clay Inn, together with the englines and boilers, hovel plant, machinery and appurtenances. The building contains about thirty bedrooms and is equipped with gas lighting and vacuum steam heating plants, modern plumbing and sanitary arrangements, including baths with hot and cold water supply. An artosian well upor the premises furnishes the botel with an abundant quantity of pure water. The building is also equipped with private fire protection apparatus, supplied with water from a tank connected with the artesian well. The location of the property is most desirable, being directly opposite to the railroad depot, thus having the benefit of excellent railroad facilities.

The property is now under a lease and three equal instalments at one, two and three cyling instalments at one, two and three years from date of sale, the deferred instalments at one, two and three years from date of sale, the money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase money to be evidence by notes of the purchase mone
